Yandere the road to freedom

All you know who I am and what I've done but you don't know that I hate it you see every time when you make me kill someone I get very sick but I'm just your puppet. But this tale tells how I became free from your grip and it's thanks to my friends who help me so if you still think you know who I'm truly is then you wrong and you'll soon see it. It was a normal morning for Yandere-chan she would get up kill some people for her "Senpai" but the truth is that she doesn't love him at all that's how the game is but on this morning she never went to school. "Hey where's Yandere-chan?" Kokona Haruka asked "huh you're right I haven't seen her at all today." Said one of her friends Senpai overheard this and walked up to the group "sorry it be eavesdropping but maybe she's sick so why not ask the princebal that we can go see if she's OK." He said. Then him, Kokona, Saki Miyu, and Oka Ruto now the reason why Saki is coming with them is because she's Kokona's best friend and why Oka is coming is because if the reason why Yandere is not at school might be paranormal. When they got to Yandere's house her mom told them she was in her room when they went in they saw that her room was a mess It looked like someone was throughing a fit. When they saw the bed they saw Yandere crying she was hugging her legs as she cryed "hey Yandere are you OK?" Kokona asked Yandere just looked at her then she put her head back down "3...2..1" Yandere said then the room fixed it self. Everyone exseped Yandere was surprised "why do I even try to make friends when every time someone starts the game they never remember." She said "wait what do you mean game?" Oka asked which made Yandere surprised "what you guys are still here then that means you're no longer under your AI!" Yandere said as she got up "wait what?!" They all asked. After Yandere explained to them what is what she began crying again "now you know that I'm a puppet that kills for other people amusement you hate me." She cried Saki patted her back "no we don't we'll help you find a way to be free from them." She said "and I can help." Said a voice from the computer "info-chan you know how we can stop the killing?" Senpai asked "why of course I do know everything come back to school and go to the info club door I'll let you in and tell you." Info-chan said. Once everyone was at the info club door they were pulled in "so you want to save Yandere-chan here then you need to go in the world of our creater and ask him to cut the strings." Info said "and how are going to do that?" Yandere asked "ask that gate keepers that are next to where you burin you clothes and weapons." Info said then she kicked them out "well let's talk to those gate keepers." Oka said then they whent to the inferno to talk to the Delinquents. "What do you want?" asked one of them "we're here because info-chan told use to ask you guys to open a door that'll allow us to go to our creators world." Yandere said then the delinquents looked at each other "alright then we'll allow you to cross but remember this that when you're done find a computer to return home." Said one of the delinquents then the opening that lead towards to the inferno was replaced by a portal "OK let's do this to end all the killing and so I can also find real love." Yandere said then they we're off.
